

Ms. Wine's Summer Bookshelf

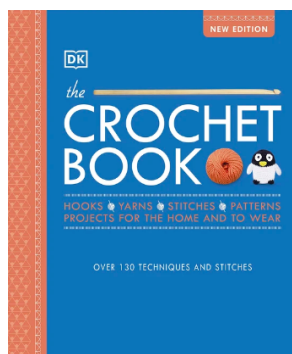

Reading takes us on so many adventures -

- reading about a new place - real or imaginary
- reading about the adventures of real people
- learning how to do something new to us

These are some of the books - and adventures - I'm looking forward to this summer. What adventures will you go on? Let me know in the fall! 💜 Mrs. Wine

Summer is all about making memories, so I can't wait to read How to Make a Memory and see what memories the characters make in the story. Camping is a true adventure, and Road Trip! is all about how camping became a popular summertime adventure. And I wonder what adventures Ayana has in 13 Stories About Ayana? Sometimes adventure means learning more about something familiar. So, when I saw a Fly Guy Presents Dogs book, I was intrigued – especially since it has Corgis on the front! I'm looking forward to learning more about these favorite pets!

Adventures don't just mean going somewhere – sometimes, the adventure is right at home! This summer, I want to learn how to crochet, and learn some new recipes, so I'm looking forward to reading and doing with The Crochet Book and Gaby's Latin American Kitchen. I also can't wait to read along with adventures in stories – the Indiana Bones series about a mystery-solving dog and his owner, and Greenwild, a new fantasy series – have caught my eye. I'm anxious to go on adventures within the pages of these books!
